A Good Word for a Good Book.

Girls, is your mother's birthday at hand, and you are thinking, "what can I get for a birthday gift this year that will best please her?" Let me suggest that your intended present be a little book entitled, "Daily Strength for Daily Needs," a compilation of sweet, helpful thoughts, the cream of the very many good things that have been written by devout Christians this and past centuries. The volume contains 366 pages, a dated page for each day of the year, and, as a friend recently said concerning it, "next to the Bible, it is the awestest, most helpful book I ever read. Each day's reading has always something to comfort and lift one's soul."

I have just been glancing over my copy

Rach day's resume to comfort and lift one's soul."

I have just been glancing over my copy of the work, a gift from a dear friend, thinking to select a few of the best extracts that you may gain an opinion of the book, but I find them all best, fity called by one, "the oream of beautiful thoughts by gifted mints." To-day, March 11, has this read-

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, ac-cumulating in the glands of the neck, pro-duces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, can-cerous growths, or the many other manifests-tions usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

PORTLAND. 816 How Can CURED By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CAELILE, Nauright, N. J. Hood's Sarsaparilla

"A solubility of less than 40 per cent. gives good ground for suspecting the use of an inferior ammoniate. In fact, anything less than 50 per cent. is to be regarded as indicating the presence of organic material of a lower grade than dried blood, dried fiesh, or dried fish." These official reports show that the Stockbridge Grass Manure stands at the head, and the other Stockbridge and Bowker brands stand well up in the list, and are made of the best materials. The samples tested were in every case drawn from goods in the open market as they were found in agents' hands in the country. It is plain that a farmer makes a mistake if he takes up brands which are represented to be "just as good as the Stockbridge," and offered at a lower price. There is as much difference between the Stockbridge Manures and some of the cheaper grades as there is between broadcloth and shoddy, or between oleomargarine and genuine butter. On this point Prof. Jordan of Maine says:— "It is safer to purchase brands of recognized good standing. New brands may be just as good or better than those longer on the market, but their quality should be carefully ascertained."

Mixed grain makes an excellent feed for any kind of stock, and the as stock food. Mixed grain makes an excellent feed for any kind of stock, and the growing of it in this way is on the increase.

The statement so frequently heard at farmers' meetings, that one must have a particular fanoy or liking for a kind of stock in order to succeed with it, is not sound dootrine. Show us the line of work in which there is some money, and we will find no difficulty in cultivating an interest. Intelligent men can readily grasp requirements in any line of work when that intelligence is applied, and there is no trouble about the application, if the money can be seen.

While the directors of stations are considered.

while the directors of stations are considering the question of how to determine the butter capacity of milk, they may find a hint in the action of the English Jersey Cattle Society. An application was made by an agricultural society to which medals for butter tests were given, for the tests to be made by analysis instead of the churn. After discussion the declaion was unanimous "that all prizes given for butter tests should be awarded according to the actual quantity of butter produced by churning, without any regard to analysis."

Maine cheese factories make a better showing than that, both as to the richness of milk and price received for the product. There is probably no State in the great dairy belt of the country where cheese sells so high in home markets as in this State. Why don't farmers make more?

William Morrow & Son of Nashville, Tenn., publish in the Jersey Bulletin a number of the product.

State. Why don't farmers make more?

William Morrow & Son of Nashville, Tenn., publish in the Jersey Bulletia a number of recent tests of their stock. Tormentor Silver, 36,058, in seven days gave 180% pounds of milk, which made 14 pounds, 7% ounces of butter. Daily Hudson, 34,647, in seven days gave 304 pounds of milk, making 17 pounds, 11 ounces of butter. The test was continued for ninety days, making 196 pounds, 13 ounces of butter. Her feed at commencement of test was about seven pounds of ground corn and oats twice a day. This was increased to nine pounds during the last few weeks of the tost. She had good pasture. Riotna Denise, 36,057, gave in seven days 236 pounds of milk, making 17 pounds, 3% daring which she made 130 pounds, 13 eunces of butter. Her feed was nine pounds ground corn and oats twice a day.

A Jersey thoroughbred bull coupled with a thoroughbred Holstein-Friesian cow will produce a choice dairy animal for both milk and butter. By this blending of the butter qualities of the Jersey and the large milk fow of of the Holstein—a happy combination; and you get beef size not found in the Jersey.—Orange Judd Farmer.
That is what we term breeding stock on paper. It is a pretty theory written out, but unfortunately doesn't always work that way in practice. Experience shows that crosses in breeding do not always balance half-and half. This proves particularly true where two breeds coupled are so widely different as are Jerseys and Holsteins. At times a desirable balance may be struck, but they are not frequent. Possibly the chances may be better with breeds not so widely at variance, but in all crosses the chances may the better with breeds not so widely at variance, but in all crosses the chances may be better with breeds not so widely at variance, but in all crosses the chances may be better with breeds not so widely at variance, but in all crosses the chances may be better with breeds not so widely at variance, but in all crosses the chances are that the true the comment of the comment of the com

The Garden.

A good vegetable garden is a most desirable attachment to a farm. The family need it, they all like it, it contributes largely towards the living, and at very small cost. The privilege of plucking fresh vegetables from a garden from early spring time till November's frosts, are within the reach of every one living in the country who will give the matter a little forethought and a measure of intelligent attention.

Rhubarb and Asparagus are the first born vegetables of spring time, and in this latitude may usually be made to give their first contribution to the season the first born vegetables of spring time, and in this latitude may usually be made to give their first contribution to the season the first of May. Flowed varieties, three feet apart in a single row, will give an abundant supply for a large family till the advent of berrice drives of our cities we contibuted the solit one this apring. Don't fool with the facility in the solit in the faulty in the solit in the faulty in four cities we can find product the crowding of an abundant supply. Make the soil rich, trench it a foot deep, make it fine, the first born will give a good supply. Make the soil rich, trench it a foot deep, make it fine, the first born will give a good supply.
